

Zrinka Režić Tolj was born in Dubrovnik. She graduated in 1996 from the Faculty of Philosophy, University of Zagreb and earned the title of Professor of Ethnology and Professor of Italian language and literature. She received her PhD at the postgraduate doctoral study in the Ethnology and Cultural anthropology at the University of Zagreb in 2012 - Thesis entitled: "Revival of tradition: cultural-anthropological study on cultural tourism in Konavle".

In 2000 she started teaching Italian at the Polytechnic of Dubrovnik, as an Expert Associate. Since 2001, she has been employed at the University of Dubrovnik where she holds the position of Senior Lecturer. She teaches Italian at the undergraduate and graduate studies at the Department of Economics and Business Economics and undergraduate studies at the Art and restoration Department and Mass Media Department. Except Italian language courses, at the Art and restoration Department she also teaches two ethno-anthropological courses.